Warm bronzed Smokey Eye

Perfect for Fall

1

Use this eye shadow stick in the color “rustique” all over the lid as a base. It adds a pretty pop of color and also helps the shadow stay in place.

2

Using one of my most used eye shadow palettes I use “riff” in the crease

I use “double life” all over the lid

3

Run a thin sweep of my favorite drug store eyeliner

4

5

Finish up with mascara and you're ready to go!

Appetizer: IG-Worthy Cheese Board

Cheese boards have definitely become my go-to for impromptu entertaining. Everyone seems to love them and if you stock the right items you can easily whip one up in a hurry! With Fall entertaining in full swing, this seemed like the perfect time to share my “How To Create an Epic Cheese Board Check List”!

Whether it's for football Sunday or moms night in...this spread is sure to please! I put together this little cheese board graphic to show how simple it can be! I've also put together a checklist that you can pin and save the next time you're at the grocery store too – so hope this is helpful!

- ☐ SOFT CHEESE
- ☐ HARD CHEESE
- ☐ BOLD CHEESE
- ☐ LIGHT CHEESE
- ☐ PROSCIUTTO
- ☐ SALAMI
- ☐ DRIED FRUIT
- ☐ FRESH FRUIT
- ☐ VARIETY OF NUTS
- ☐ CRACKERS OR BREAD
- ☐ GARNISH
- ☐ SERVING UTENSILS

To Drink: Fave Red Wines

PRISONER

I'm a huge fan of prisoner wine but I've been on the hunt for more budget-friendly options as we seem to run through wines a lot more in 2020, ya feel me!?

CUPCAKE

Red velvet is a must!

Main Course: Healthy Chili Recipe

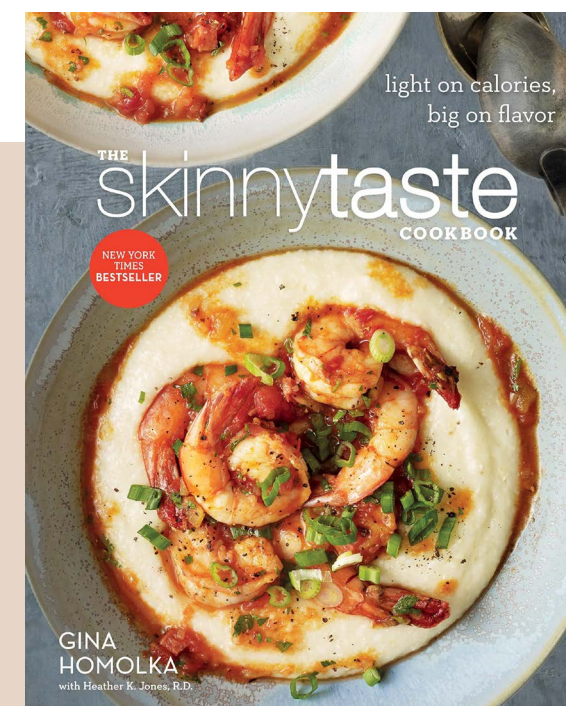

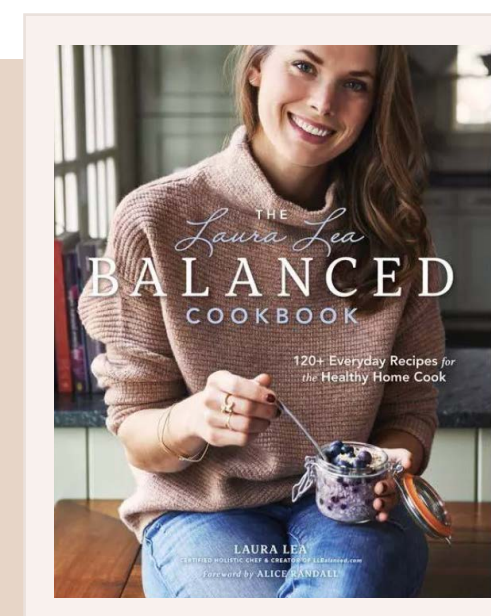

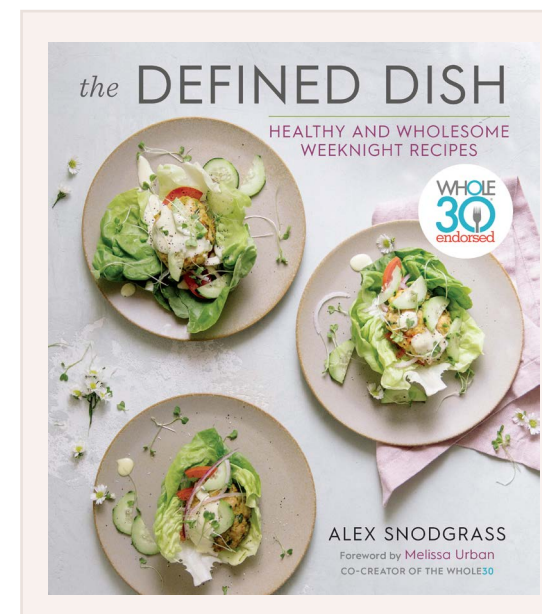

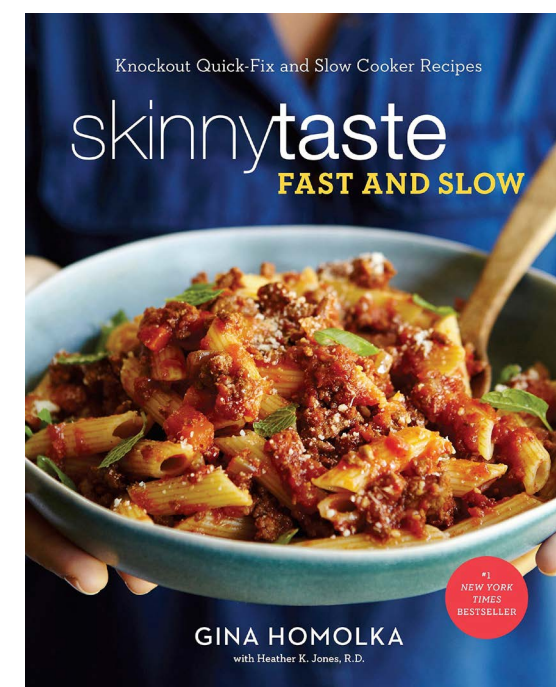

This chili by Skinnytaste is on regular rotation in our house during the fall (as is everything she does!). The kids and hubs love it and it's decently healthy so it's a good option for everyone. It's one of those recipes that is very easy to make, fills you up and tastes SO good! Gives you that warm and cozy vibe we all want in the fall. Have you guys tried any of her other recipes that you makes regularly too? I got her One and Done Cookbook and am eager to try out her sheet pan recipes!
